When there are holes left from absent teeth, it is critical to fill these spaces as each tooth should have an opposed tooth to provide support. Lacking a full compliment of teeth or opposing teeth in your bite, you may disturb some of your remaining teeth. If there is not a complete compliment of teeth to prop up the bite, you might end up damaging a number of your remaining teeth. Nevertheless, losing a few or the bulk of your teeth shouldn't result in a lack of confidence and shouldn't lessen your self-esteem as there are numerous possibilities to help fashion you a brand new smile or to simply improve the smile you already possess!

The treatment possibilities accessible to you can begin with a straightforward adjustment or small alterations to the dentures you already possess all the way up to a complete replacement or an entire transformation of your current dentures. Your dental clinician is able to clarify and assist you to understand all of your procedural and treatment possibilities so you can make a fully informed decision.

Today's dental technologies enable the oral health care provider to construct smiles that are confident, organic, and natural. A denture at the moment does not appear like the dentures of old and will in reality enable you to smile with absolute self-assurance. High quality false teeth are designed with multiple layers of acrylics and it is nearly impossible to tell apart from natural teeth.

Complete Dentures - A full denture, typically a removable oral health appliance, is recommended to individuals when they have all of their teeth missing in either the upper or lower arches. Oral health care providers will take a precise measurement of the teeth at some stage in the first denture treatment prior to selecting an appropriate shape and shade of teeth that is going to be utilized to create a customized smile just for you.

Removable Partial Dentures - This type of denture is a removable appliance that utilizes the support of existing teeth. Partial dentures can be used by patients who have lost one or more teeth within an arch. Several alternatives are offered and many times a partial denture is chosen. Dental crowns and bridges are other alternatives and may be favored by your dental clinician, who can advise you on the best treatment alternative for you.

These days, a broad range of partial denture styles are available. The most exciting is the invisible partials, which offers a partial denture that is nearly invisible as it flawlessly blends into your natural tissues and current teeth. The invisible partial is flexible, and almost unbreakable and uses only the highest quality materials available to ensure strength and resistance to excessive wear and tear.
