

Can braces be done on the backside of teeth?

Some braces can be fitted to the back or inside of the teeth. The practice is not new but there are new processes available that make the approach more comfortable.

These braces are sometimes referred to as lingual or hidden braces and can be quite a bit more expensive than the more conventional types. However, if it is important to a patient to have braces that can't be seen, this is a good option.